International Learning Mobility: The next 25 Years – practice and innovation in the U.S. and Australia

Davina Potts, Brett Berquist
Michigan State University
Dawn Koban
RMIT
WHERE WERE WE IN 1986?

- AUSTRALIA: Dawkins reforms, 1987
- USA: IIE Open Doors US outbound data, 1986
- EUROPR: ERASMUS established 1987

- Bennett DMIS, 1986
- Carlson, Burns, Opper, Teichler: Study Abroad Evaluation Project (SAEP)
Study abroad, increasingly an important part of the American college experience, appears to be suffering at the hands of international terrorism. "Our students are thinking about terrorism, and their parents are thinking about it, too," said Elizabeth R. Hayford, one official involved in foreign study who cites significant declines in enrollment, at least this summer. At Colgate University, which sends 350 students overseas every year, Charles H. Trout, the provost, said, "Basically, people are afraid that if you have too many American students in too large a group they will attract attention and will be vulnerable." Officials of programs of study abroad say they first noticed a decline in enrollment in March after Libya threatened retaliation for a United States attack on its
World Events 1986 - 2011

- Berlin Wall
- Democracy in Chile
- Collapse of USSR
- Asian economic crisis
- Emergence of China
- Chernobyl
- BRIC economies
- Strengthening of the EU
- Lockerbie
- Gulf wars
- 9/11
- Bali bombings
- WTO
- Afghanistan
- Pauline Hanson
- Tampa
- El Niño/La Niña
- Education aid to trade
- UMAP
- Erasmus Mundus
- Lincoln report
- Global financial meltdown
- Obama
- Kevin 07
- Arab spring
- ????
Questions

What emerging trends do you see driving international learning mobility to 2025?

What will international learning mobility look like in 2025?

How do we support the future through institutional and national policy?
Where were you in 1986?
U.S. study abroad duration

- 18% in 1985/86 (academic year)
- 9% in 1985/86 (short-term)
- 55% in 2008/09 (academic year)
- 4% in 2008/09 (short-term)
Self-awareness & C1
Intercultural competence
Professional development
Intellectual growth
Personal growth
Global Competence Goals

- an understanding of themselves culturally and the ability to use this knowledge to live and work effectively in diverse settings and with diverse individuals
- the knowledge and skills associated with international, global, and intercultural content areas such as language, geography, history;
- a desire and ability to seek out and use diverse sources of information to inform their decision making; and
- a desire and ability to engage in communities of practice as citizens and scholars.
5,000 faculty and academic staff

5,200 acre campus

47,272 students

Est. 1855 LAND GRANT model

200 Programs of Study in 17 Colleges

$405 million sponsored research

Site of $550 million Facility for Rare Isotope Beams

47,272 students

5,200 acre campus

Est. 1855 LAND GRANT model

200 Programs of Study in 17 Colleges

Site of $550 million Facility for Rare Isotope Beams
MSU Alumni Memorial Chapel
MSU sends 3,000 students abroad on nearly 300 programs to all 7 continents.

1/3 of MSU undergraduate students study abroad.

Study Abroad is a top rated attraction for admitted students.

TOP producer of U.S. Peace Corps Volunteers.

#1 Public University.
Lessons from Oz
Next 25

- Integrated
- Experiential
- Diverse